Basic functions runthrough

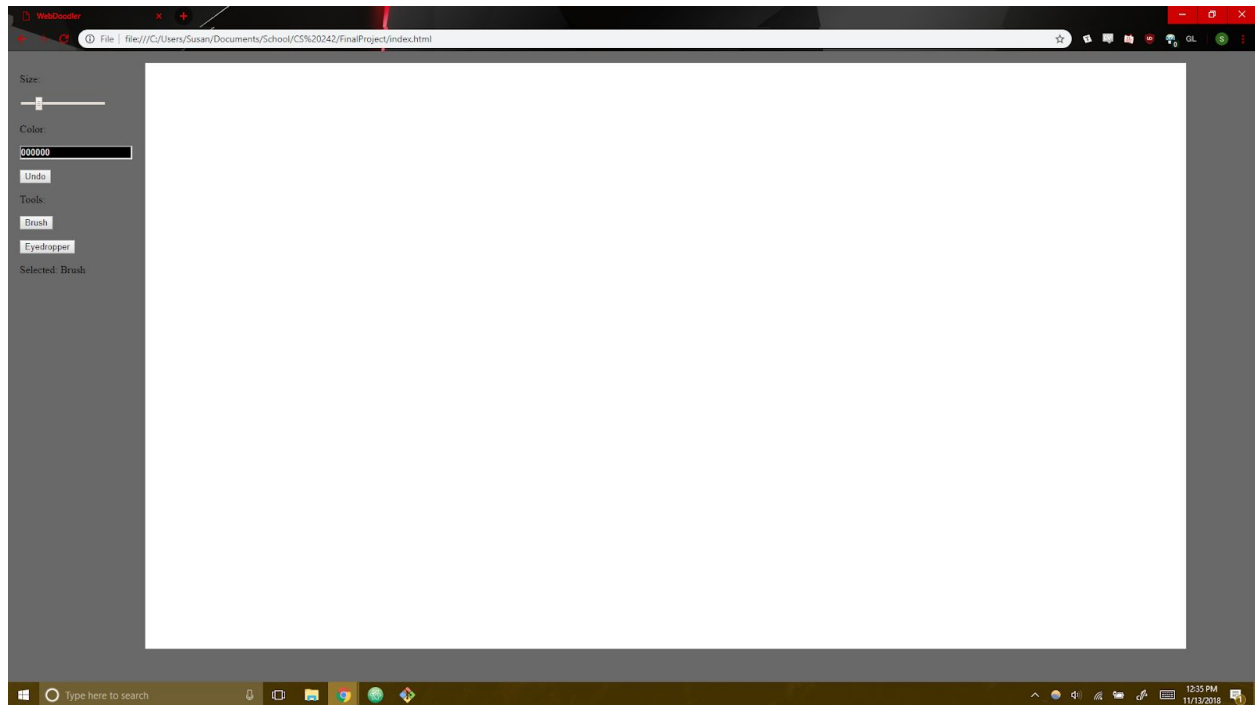

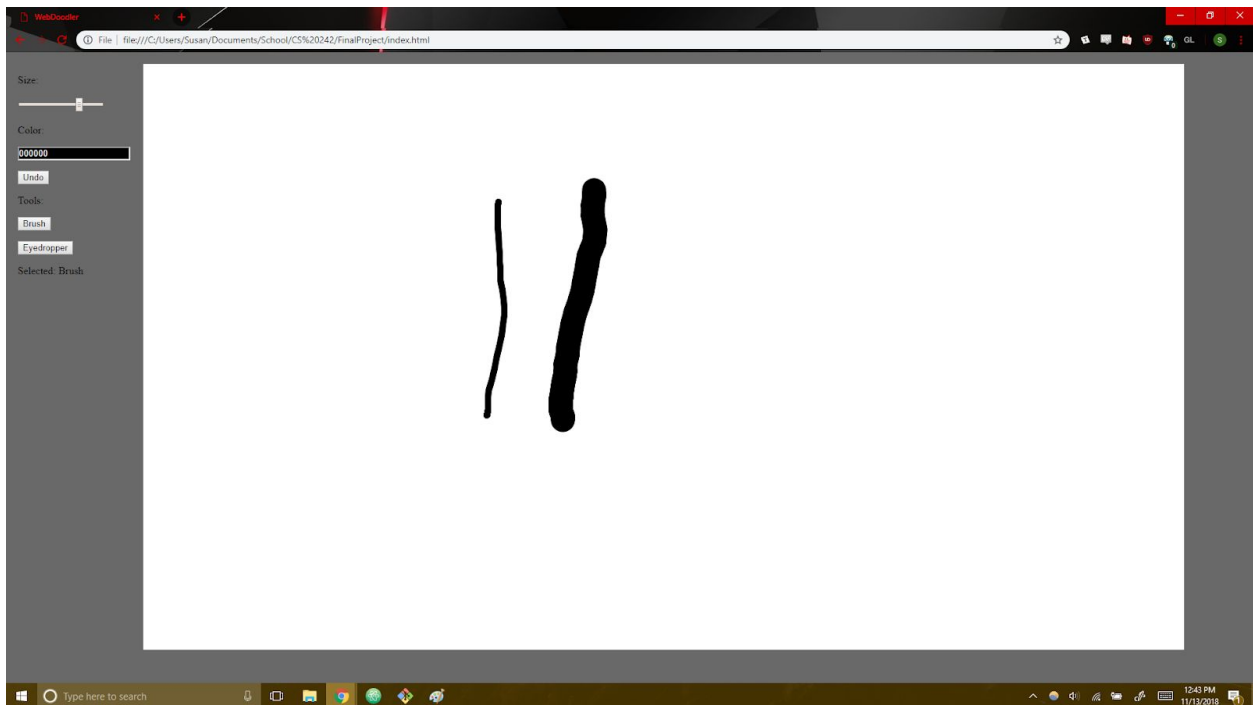

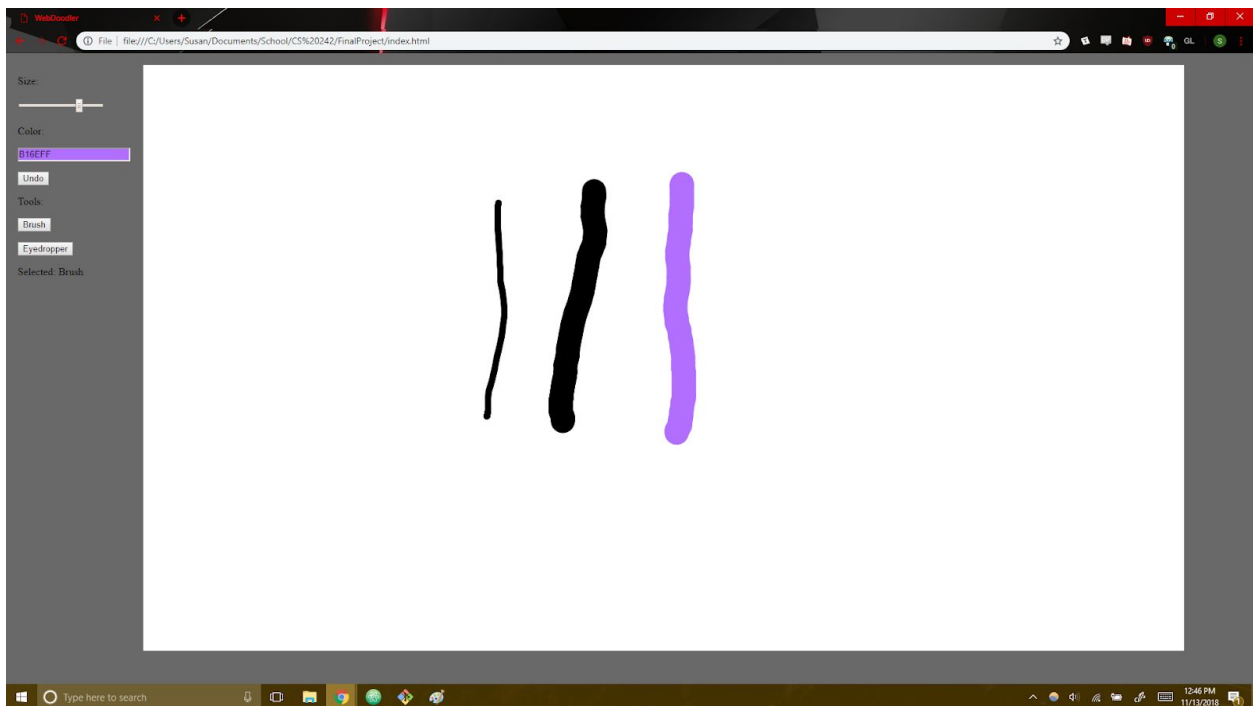

Click on the canvas and drag to draw a line
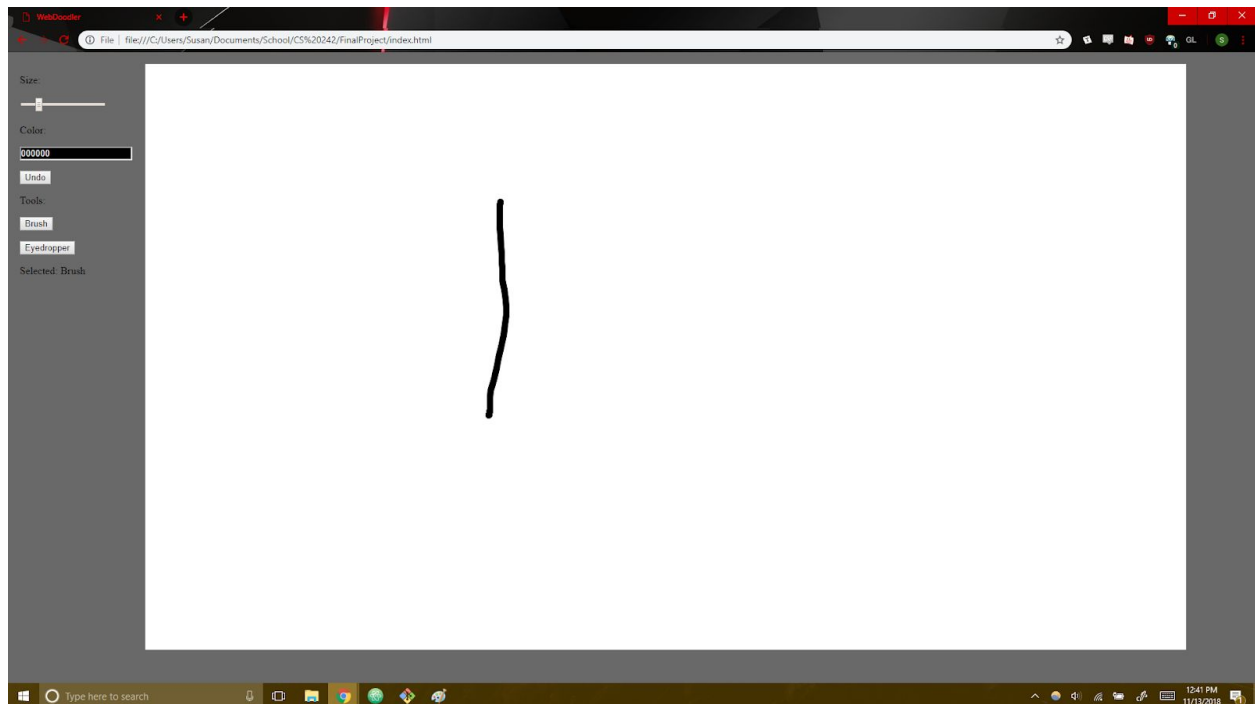

Slide the size slider further right and draw another line. This one should be thicker.

Click the color box, select a different color, and draw another line. The new line should be the same color you just chose.

Press the "Eyedropper" button and click on one of the black lines. The menu on the left should say that you have the eyedropper selected and that the current color is black (#000000).
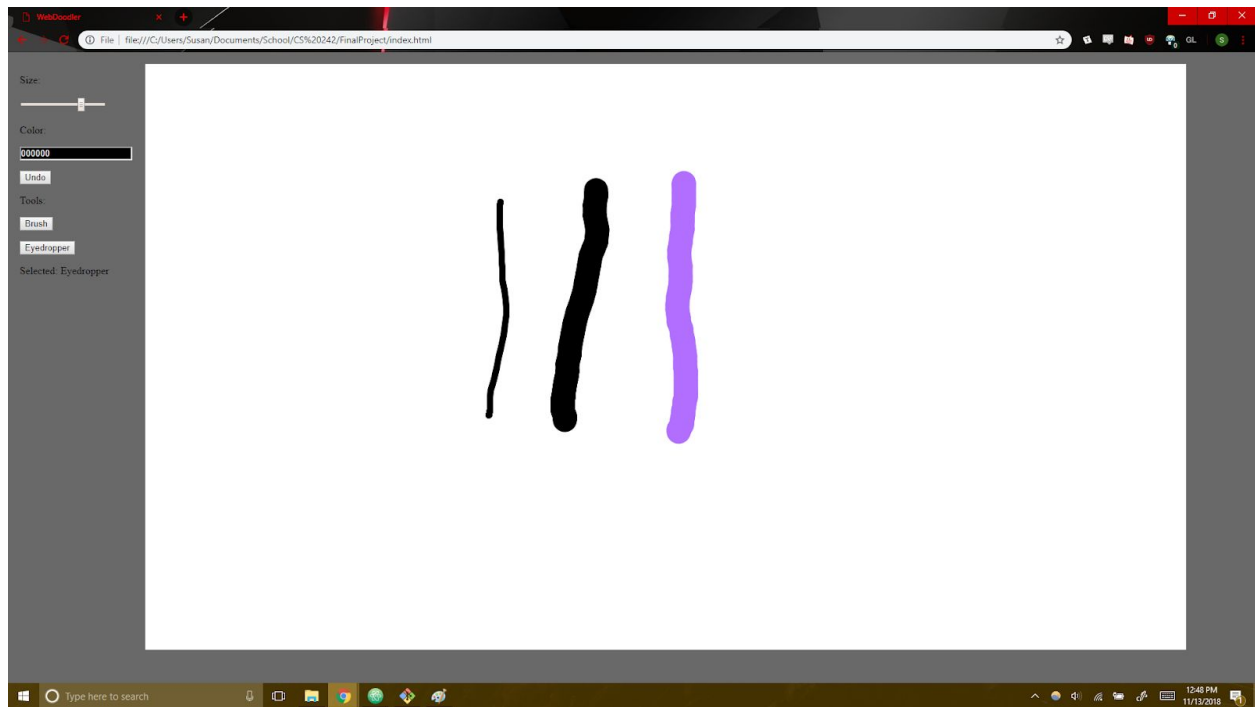

Move the size slider all the way to the left and press the brush button, then draw another line. The menu should say you have the brush selected, and the line you just drew should be thin and black.
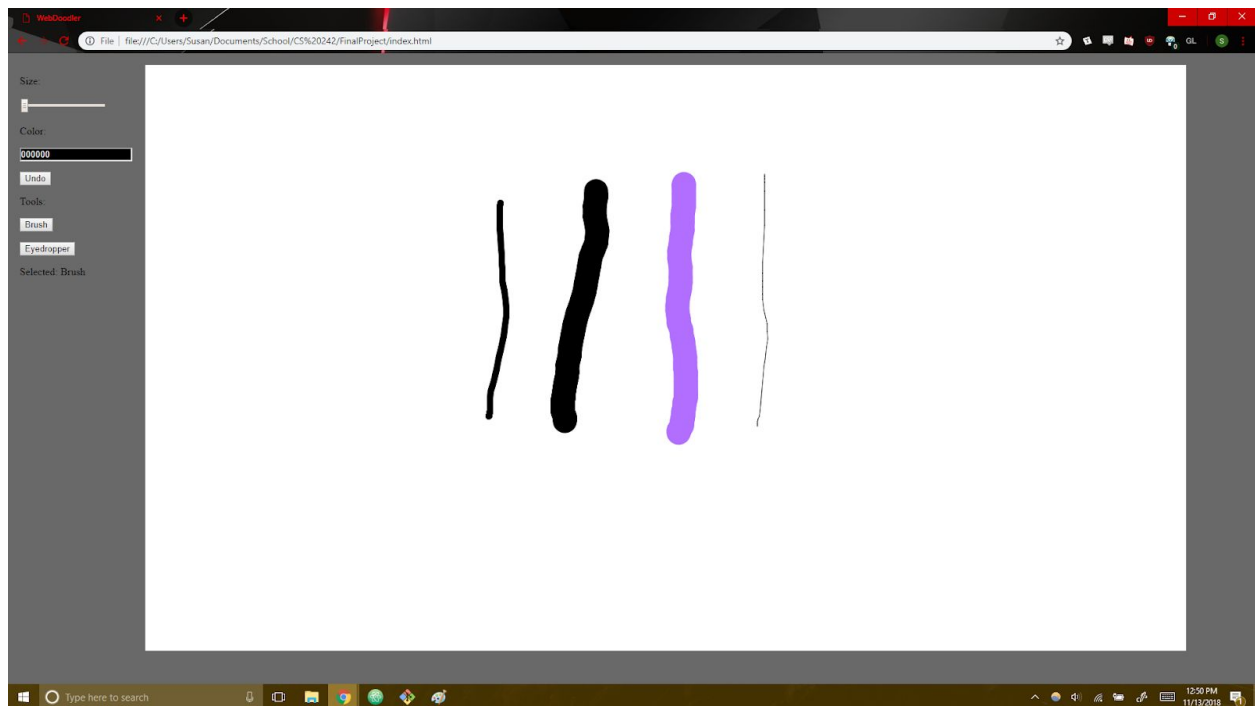

Press the undo button. The line you just drew should disappear.
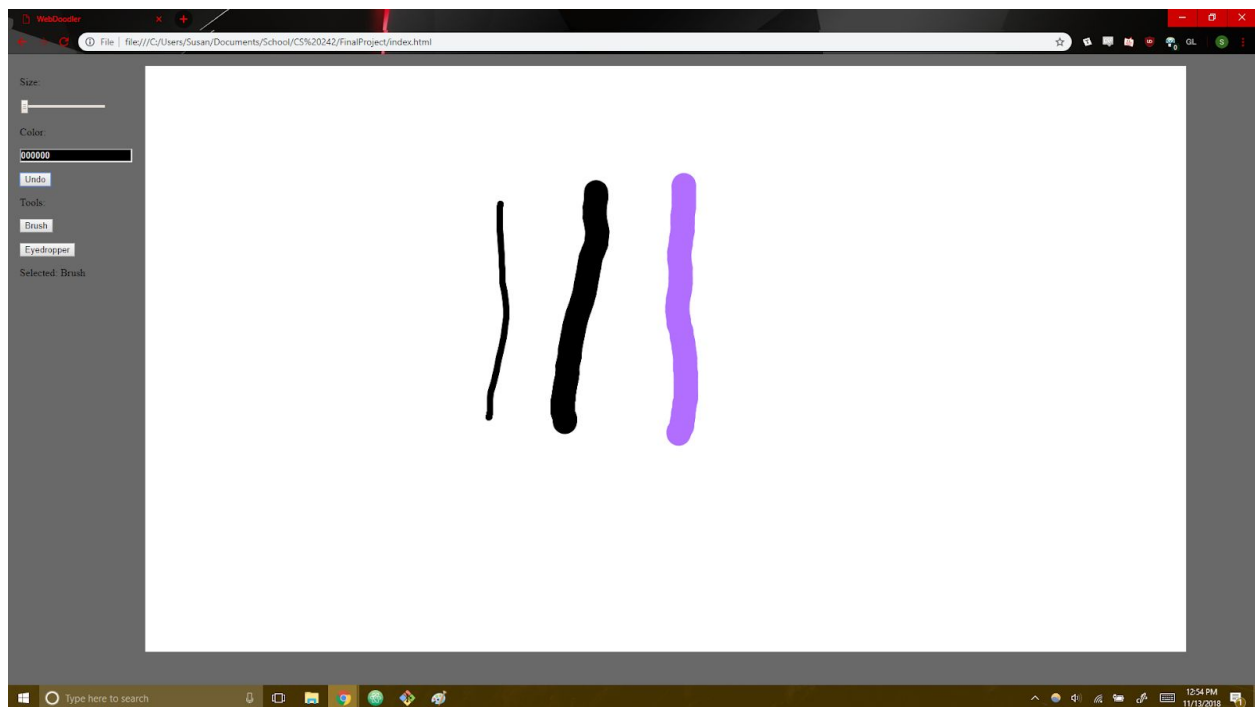

Press the undo button 3 more times. Each time the most recent line to be drawn should disappear.
